

James Bellar, Mayor

Patricia Randolph, Recorder

TOWN OF WHITEVILLE
"Gateway to Hardeman County"
October 24, 2011

Via Fax: 615-251-5453

Mr. William Hubbard
Mr. Alvin Harris
Hubbard, Berry & Harris P. L. C. C.
201 Fourth Avenue, North, Suite 1420
Nashville, Tn. 37219

RE: Freedom from Religion Foundation
Town of Whiteville, Tn.

Dear Mr. Hubbard & Harris:

This is to advise that there is no longer a Latin cross atop the Whiteville water tower. Attached is a paid invoice from McGhee Grain Service who performed the work early Saturday morning.

This brings to a close a sad chapter in the history of Whiteville and Hardeman County that can best be described as terroristic, cowardly and shameful!

The fear and terror caused our older people here is shameful. So shame on your client and your firm!! My e-mail address is in the public domain. The past few weeks I have been inundated with e-mails from the terrorist supporters of F. F. R. F. Their website and correspondence contains no e-mail address. Hence the word "cowardly" as they wish to hide behind a shield.

The Town of Whiteville had volunteer organizations willing to pay our bills if we chose to fight this. In addition, we had ample liability coverage that would have defended us and paid our bills. No one but me made the final decision and I did what I did to stop the enrichment of your firm from the Citizens of Hardeman County.

We assume you will forward a copy of our letter to Annie Laurie Gaylor and her ex-Christian co-president husband, Mr. Dan Barker, so they can advise their 16,000 members nationwide, including nearly 200 in Tennessee, and apparently one who lives in the Northwest quadrant of Hardeman County.

You may also advise her we close this letter with one word, and it is not a Town in Arizona. If she and her terrorists friends have any trouble, go to Wikipedia.

PHOENIX!

Thank you,
TOWN OF WHITEVILLE

BY: James R. Bellar, Mayor
James R. Bellar

158 East Main Street P.O. Box 324 Whiteville, Tennessee 38075
Phone: 731-254-8523 Fax: 731-254-8012 Email: townofwhiteville@yahoo.com